

THE LAST CITY.

Santiago De Chili Surrenders to the Rebels.
Balmaceda a Fugitive Fleeing Across the Andes.
THE DOWNFALL OF HIS GOVERNMENT NOW COMPLETE.
President-Martin Vienna Says the Cause Is Lost—Further Fighting Will Be Willful Murder—Riot and Disorder in the Streets of Valparaiso—Foreign Consulates Protected by the Sailors of Their Men-of-War—Thrilling Incidents in the Close of the Chilean Struggle.

The following dispatch was received here to-night:
VALPARAISO, Chile, via Galveston, Tex., Aug. 29.—Santiago has been formally surrendered, the triumph of the Congressional party is complete and peace and quiet may be looked for in Chile before many days have passed. After the crushing defeat which Balmaceda's forces met with at the hands of Gen. Canas's troops on the hills back of this city yesterday and the subsequent entry of the conquering army into Valparaiso the fall of the capital was only a question of time. The insurgent leader intended to make it a question of only a very short time, too, for active preparations were being made to send a force of men sufficient to overcome all possible opposition at Santiago as soon as the railroad could be repaired and arrangements made for the transportation of the troops.

All this was made unnecessary, however, for early this morning word was received from representatives of Balmaceda at the capital asking for a conference with a view to surrender. The request was readily granted, and Gen. Balmaceda, who was formerly Commander-in-Chief of the Chilean army, was designated to act for the Congressmen.

A meeting was held and the terms of the surrender were arranged. To all intents the capital is now in possession of the Junta, and within a few hours it will be actually in charge of their officers.

A few days more and the Junta will form a Provisional Government, which they insist must be recognized as the only Legislative Government of Chile, and the work of reorganizing and rehabilitating the country can proceed.

THE FLEET SAILS IN.
The insurgent fleet came to the bay this morning and found convenient anchorage grounds. The sailors were greeted almost as enthusiastically as were the soldiers when they entered the city yesterday. Senor Don Jorge Montt, Chief of the Junta, however, came in with the fleet and took the first business to be transacted was the formal capitulation of the city.

The foreign general supervision of affairs in connection with Senor Walker Martinez since yesterday, and a conference was held, at which were present Senor Montt, Senor Walker Martinez, the foreign admirals, and the late Intendente Viel. Senor Montt announced that the only terms he had to offer was the unconditional surrender of the city and of all officers and troops as prisoners of war.

He had no terms to offer to civil officers and had no pledges to give. These terms were, perforce, accepted, and Sen. Walker Martinez was continued as Intendente until the arrival of the Junta from Iquique, when final arrangements will be made.

RIOING IN THE STREETS.
The behavior of the insurgent troops since their entry into the city has been most exemplary. Perfect discipline has been maintained and officers and privates have endeavored to keep the unruly elements here in order.

It is next to impossible, however, as the town is crowded with disbanded soldiers and disorderly characters of all kinds. Many of them have visited yesterday's battlefield and possessed themselves of rifles and cartridges. Fights and riots are of constant occurrence in the streets and several people have been killed by the rioters. Incendiary attempts are frequent and fears of general conflagration are entertained. Strong patrols of soldiers are sent out through the streets constantly and the fire department and Urban Guards are on duty all the time. By their active work no serious outbreaks have occurred, and as summary justice is dealt out to men found leading disorderly demonstrations, it is altogether probable that order will be secured and maintained before very long.

IN THE MOUNTAINS.
A battalion of 100 mariners and blue jackets from United States ships under command of Lieutenant-Commander B. F. Tiley, executive officer of the San Francisco, has been stationed at the American Consulate, and will look after American interests generally.

NO TIME WASTED.
Similar action has been taken by the other consuls and they will act in concert if occasion demands. This, however, is not regarded as likely.

Some of the English residents of the city caused the report to be spread this morning that Balmaceda was in hiding about the flagship San Francisco, and this made considerable head feeling against the Americans here. The report was, of course, without foundation. The insurgent leaders did not intend to waste any time in moving against Santiago.

Almost immediately after the victory yesterday a force of men was put to work repairing the railroad where it had been torn up, and orders were given for the concentration of rolling stock here. A division of 6,000 men were sent to Vina Del Mar to be in readiness to embark on the cars and start for Santiago at the earliest possible moment. They were under the command of Gen. Balmaceda.

Now that Santiago has surrendered it is probable that the number of men Gen. Balmaceda will take with him when he starts, perhaps to-morrow, will be reduced to a force just sufficient to preserve order.

Now that fuller details of the fighting of yesterday are at hand, it appears that the jealousy and bickering of Balmaceda's Generals was largely responsible for the overwhelming defeat.

NO PLAN OF ACTION.
No; they had no concerted plan of action, and the battle was fought on their side with absolutely no regard for tactical advantages. Their men were brave enough, but they were, it is now pretty certain, simply sacrificed. The total number of killed on the Government side is now given as 700 men and of the opposition 300. It is impossible to learn the number of wounded. Sympathizers with Balmaceda's cause are very bitter against the military leaders on their side. They say that they depended on the reports made by their army officers as to the condition of the forces in the field and the defenses of the city, and were utterly deceived.

NEW SENOR DON CLAUDIO VICUNA, who was elected president to succeed Balmaceda, and who is now a refugee across the German flagships, this morning. He acknowledged that defeat of the government is final and that any further resistance would be simply a useless waste of force and destruction of life and property. This seems to be the general opinion among the adherents of the Government here.

AT BERMUDEZ ESCAPES.
Every possible effort is being made by the Congressional leaders to discover the whereabouts of Balmaceda, but up to this time they have not succeeded in finding a trace of him. The impression is growing that the President and some of the officers of the fleet are making all possible efforts to escape from the country by way of some of the smaller ports of the Andes. It is now winter in this country and it is a task sufficient to daunt the strongest man to make his way overland to Montevideo or Buenos Ayres.

THE STOLEN MILLION.
The Junta has already taken steps to get hold of the thirty tons of silver bullion which was taken from the treasury by Balmaceda and shipped on the British ship of war, Rapide, to Buenos Ayres. The treasure is empty, but it is doubtful if it will be refilled by this silver.

SENOR JORGE MONTT announces to-day that the members of the Junta will come to Valparaiso from Iquique and until their arrival whatever arrangements are made in the south will be only temporary and subject to their confirmation or will be changed as they direct.

ADMIRAL BROWN, commander of the American naval forces here; Lieut. George L. Dyer and Ensign Alonso Gertie of the flagship Franklin had a narrow escape from death yesterday. When they were on their ship in their steam launch when the fight for the possession of the torpedo boat, Almarante Lynch occurred.

For a short time, directly under fire from both the troops and the torpedo boat and their escape from injury was almost miraculous. Escape they did, however.

EFFICIENT CABLE SERVICE.
The statement that the cable had been cut near Iquique is without foundation. The property of the Cable Co. has not been molested in any way, and all its affairs have been managed as to command the Central and South American Cable, the Central & South American Telegraph Co., which is an American corporation, for managing its business and had it not been for its extension of the cable, laid in February last between Lima and Valparaiso, it would have been unable to send you any message at all from this city showing the progress of the war and the public would not have been informed of recent events.

For a short time, directly under fire from both the troops and the torpedo boat and their escape from injury was almost miraculous. Escape they did, however.

SOME OF THE RESULTS.
BALMACEA'S LOSSES IN THE RECENT ENGAGEMENTS.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—The following dispatch was received by the Chilean envoys late to-night:
Iquique, Aug. 29.—Don Pedro Montt, Washington, D. C.: The triumph in Iquique has been completed. General Balmaceda's army numbered 12,000 men. Three thousand Americans killed and 10,000 wounded. The torpedo boats Lynch and Almarante, and all the rest is in the hands of the rebels. The rebels are without resistance. Vicuna, Gosley, Barbosa, Minister of the interior and Vice Intendente of Valparaiso have escaped to foreign waters. Enriquez, Minister of the interior, has been killed. Enriquez, Minister of the interior, has been killed. Enriquez, Minister of the interior, has been killed.

REBEL RIGHTS.
A QUESTION FOR DIPLOMATS TO SETTLE AT WASHINGTON.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 29.—The most significant incident in the development of the Chilean episode here to-day was a long conference for Minister Lascana, representative of the deposed Balmaceda Government, and Acting Secretary of State Wharton. Mr. Wharton and the Minister both declined to say anything with regard to the subject of the interview on the ground that it was an official diplomatic conference which neither could discuss. Later in the day another representative of the Balmaceda Government, who had been in the capital, came to the property of the Balmaceda Government, and spent half hour with the Acting Secretary. All that could be learned of the proposed action of the State Department in the matter of the recognition of the Balmaceda Government was the unofficial statement that as soon as it becomes apparent that the revolutionists have achieved a complete victory and have established a permanent Government forcing Balmaceda to abdicate, the department will extend official recognition to the properly accredited representatives of the constitutional party.

THE SIGNATURE GENUINE.
BYTES, MONT, AND DE LA ROSA in the Davis will come to-day W. M. Frisbie, a banker from Dillon, Mont., who had dealings with Balmaceda, testified that the signature in the will in controversy was genuine.

LONDON, Aug. 29.—Parnell has received a worse blow than the loss of an election. The Freeman's Journal, by a vote of its shareholders, has been taken out of his hands. The directors favorable to Parnell's interests have resigned, and the leading Nationalist organ will henceforth be under the absolute control of Dr. Dewey Gray, who has joined Dillon and O'Brien. Parnell is now left without an organ of any importance save United Ireland. He will be able to reach the public only by speeches.

One result will likely be the weakening of his forces in Dublin, which is his last stronghold. The Freeman's Journal and its maintaining Dublin opinion. If the Nationalist organ could be polled at this moment Parnell might have a majority, but now that the chief newspaper of the city has deserted him, Parnell's influence is likely to decline. It is difficult to see where he will find a rallying point.

Strenuous efforts are being made to establish a rival journal. There seems to be no friends, but there is one serious hitch—a lack of funds has revealed itself. An empty treasury cannot fund newspapers and Dublin will scarcely support another one.

THE WORD CONTEST

—OF THE—

ST. LOUIS CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL.

The ladies of the St. Louis Children's Hospital have arranged a Word Contest, the proceeds from which are to go towards the hospital fund.

The above prize will be given to the person who sends the greatest number of words made from the letters contained in the following sentence:

all the street car lines. Nothing could be done to prevent the street cars from carrying all parts of the city and from the suburbs also. It is not merely a benefit to the section where the street cars run, but a benefit to the amount of trade to the stores around it, but it is a benefit to the city as a whole. It is the only place in the city where houses are built, and it is the only place where the people supply at all times day or night at any time of the year.

It is true that it would be a good idea for the city to sell. A revenue would be obtained from the sale of the street cars, and it would be a benefit to the city as a whole.

Festus J. Wade said it costs the city $80,000 a year to maintain the market.

ESTHETIC OF DRESS.

NATURAL FOLD CENTERS AND THEIR USE AND ABUSE BY FASHION.

Shoulder and Hips Are the Principal Points of Support. Garments and Their Use Should Be Adapted to Dress as a Fine Art.

Writes for the ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH.

The common usage of placing folds indiscriminately about women's garments is disorganizing in its effect and ruinous to beauty. Folds may legitimately be fastened only where by the form of the body they would naturally gather together, and these points are limited. Wherever the body offers support to the weight of the garments, there is a natural fold center and to that point as a source the eye is properly directed, but when folds are gathered where the body could not support them sentiment and reason are outraged, and unity and simplicity are destroyed.

The points furnished by nature for suspending the garments are the shoulders and hips and in attaining the maximum of beauty to its hanging the garment must have all its parts depend, or appear to depend, upon these two points, and principally from the shoulders, and from their position and form, offer the principal resistance to gravity. This does not mean that we must follow the fashions, and happily fashion does not forbid our at least suggesting in our dress that we are acquainted with this beautiful law of fold centers.

AN ILLUSTRATION.

Take an illustration. In shirred waists the gathers may be upon either shoulder or they may be across the neck only, falling down the middle of back and front. I suppose that choice between the two modes is not made by women but by caprice; few women mean anything at all when they choose between fashions in dress, and yet between the two there is a moment difference in taste. Where the gathers are from the neck a suggestion is given of their being suspended by the neck, but the neck has far other duty than this; has of muscular functions the nobility that degraded into a peg for clothing. Moreover the gathers falling there will make a straight line, bisecting the body and causing the head to look as if stuck on a pole.

When, on the other hand, the gathers proceed from the shoulders the eye is referred to points which are in the same position as the shoulders, and the effect is in its subtleties of the figure as they pass over them and in their balance and in the beautiful bi-symmetry of the body. The same effect will, of course, be produced by the use of any ornament in the same position. It seems strange that so many people fail to perceive the superiority in beauty of the latter as its outlines extend to the shoulders over one whose outlines end abruptly in the neck band. The fault is so common that it must be that the difference is not appreciated and yet the person who is so ignorant as to acknowledge the beauty of the sweeping curve of the front of a Turkish sword jacket.

USE OF THE HIP.

Folds remain about the shoulders in proportion as they are heavy, but the hips do not offer the same resistance to gravity, and maintain comparatively little support. The garment is tight and cuts unnaturally into the figure, and the weight of the skirt should rest its weight mainly upon the shoulders, and falling there should appear to rest for a moment upon the hips. A river may pass over a boulder in its course, and the shoulder and hips are like a boulder, and the skirt is like a river, and the skirt should rest its weight mainly upon the shoulders, and falling there should appear to rest for a moment upon the hips.

THE MATTER OF THE BELT.

Where lines are laid together the eye demands to know how they are joined. They are intended to form parts of a whole, an assurance of the strength of the garment. This is why the lines of a column of clustered staves are strapped about, and why, though the folds of a church vestment are fast enough through being kept wet, the great artists confined their draperies with the belt.

Again, the eye demands that the confining belt be anywhere but at a point or points which are fixed absolutely. It is a bundle of rods, then, a single band should be at the middle, but if the lines are to be one, then the place for the strap is just before the curving begins, and the belt is about to leave the parallel but have not yet done so—in other words, just below the point of tangency.

Now, in the human figure the right place for the girdle is just above the hips, and the lines are straight as the line of the neck, and the point of tangency where the lines are parallel, and the lower limbs begin. The girdle, or the separation between the waist and the hips, must be placed where the hips are, and the fashion of our great grandmothers, which placed the belt just below the bust, was an aesthetic mistake, and is also the most ruinous to the figure.

ESTHETICS OF THE NECK.

The waist, the most agreeable to taste, has this line distinctly marked, and the best plain waist is out of straight above the hips and below the hips, and the line is a cord or other accentuation of the line. WOMEN FARM LABORERS.

THOUSANDS OF THEM RAISE VEGETABLES ABOUT NEW YORK.

Special Cor. ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH, Copyright.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—I listened, despite myself, to the typical American brag about a city island train the other day. He was on the seat ahead of me, had evidently just returned from a few weeks in Europe and was detailing his experiences in a not particularly warm voice for the benefit of those about him.

He was good enough for him, he said, and he wound up his remarks with this cliché: "And we don't put our women out at field work either."

"What's that?" asked his companion. He was pointing away to the left, to the far side of a field of cabbages, where two or three stooping figures had just straightened up to look at the passing train.

"The women," said the returned traveler, a trifle disconcerted. He had been told that the women were better than the men, but his eyes had seen only what they were prepared to see, and a woman farm laborer was not one of those of Brooklyn's city line.

It was not until he had seen the women more before reaching the island, with his new eyes, that he was able to see them in their own persons.

The other day at a court room at Jamaica, L. I., a woman was detained as witness in a petty case. She was a magnificent creature, in a way, of medium height and built, with a splendid pose of muscle and poise, and a complexion that yachtsmen spend much time and money to get. Presently came her turn to be questioned. Part of the conversation was this:

"And your occupation?"

"A farm laborer."

No one in the room seemed to be particularly surprised at this except a city reporter, who had been told that the women were better than the men, but his eyes had seen only what they were prepared to see, and a woman farm laborer was not one of those of Brooklyn's city line.
